Summer Reading

All Trinity Catholic students are required to do summer reading and complete a written assignment by the first day of class in the fall.

The titles and links for the written assignments are in the course boxes below. This information can also be found on the school website. Accessing this page digitally may make it easier to open attached links.

These books are available at public libraries, local bookstores or online. Many of the selections are available as free e-books through a variety of sites such as Project Gutenberg.

Students will be assessed on the reading selection upon their return in the fall. Assessments may include one or more of the following: summative quiz, writing assignment, and/or project.

Students taking a dual enrollment English course at CF do not have a summer assignment through TC. Check your CF syllabus for any summer requirements.
